

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Predictive Resources, LLC is excited to announce that Roger Tafoya will be joining the organization as Chief Operating Officer and Chief Underwriter. “Roger is a proven Life Settlement executive, an accomplished Life Settlement underwriter, and a pioneer in automated underwriting system development,” says Vince Granieri, CEO of Predictive Resources.

Prior to joining Predictive Resources, Tafoya was Head of Underwriting New Business and Underwriting R&D for MassMutual, where he led ongoing development of algorithmic underwriting, and partnered with clinicians, data scientists, vendors, underwriters and claims professionals to use digital health data to improve mortality, morbidity and longevity accuracy for both pricing and risk assessment. Granieri is pleased to see another creative and knowledgeable individual join his hard-working team. “Predictive Resources extends its industry lead in employing accomplished actuarial, clinical, IT and underwriting resources, all critical to the life settlement industry and the longevity space.”

Tafoya brings more than 25 years of insurance, underwriting, and automation experience to Predictive Resources. He is a recognized leader in the insurance industry, and is known for innovative solutions, especially related to updating and integrating new data sources to existing rules engines and predictive models. “Roger’s addition provides the executive depth that ensures the continuity of Predictive Resources beyond the next decade,” says Granieri.

Tafoya has previous experience in the Life Settlement Industry as the Chief Operating Officer of ISC Services. Before that, he proudly served six years as an Infantry Officer in the United States Marine Corps, attaining the rank of Major. Roger lives in Charlotte, NC, with his wife, Kathy, and son, Ryland.

Predictive Resources, LLC is a consulting firm specializing in human longevity and related applications. It is based in Cincinnati, OH, with offices in Charlotte, NC and Myrtle Beach, SC.
